

MOSS TO

W02210

MOSSTO

Up to you

MOSSTO SOUL

In 1660, a craftsman shoemaker named Nicholas Lestage, was the first to create high-heeled shoes at the request of King Louis XIV for a party at the palace.

This design would be soon become popular in its female variant, as part of women's clothing during more of 35 decades.

Today, 350 years later, MOSSTO pays an old debt with women around the world.

A woman in a black dress and high heels, holding a shoe. The image is partially visible on the left side of the frame, showing her legs and hands. She is holding a black high-heeled shoe in her right hand, and her left leg is raised, also wearing a high-heeled shoe. The background is white.

MOSSTOCONCEPT

Feline Femininity state.

Like woman, you cast a way of being,
act, and feel.

Therefore, the adaptability and femininity,
shouldn't be disputed.

MOSSTO responds to a natural necessity. A latent insight in the collective feminine, a claim to freedom of choice and the reinterpretation of the rules of the game;

Put the heel,
up to today's woman.

MOSSTOPOWER

Technologically impossible.

Like yours, our day to day, is also full of challenges, some are easy and others impossible ..
.. or almost impossible.

In MOSSTO we have developed what no shoemaker will believe without seeing.

The secret? An adaptive mold and new performance magnetic heel.

MOSSTOQUALITY

Spanish Technology and Design.

Happiness can be found in details.
This seems easy but is only achieved
by giving the best of ourselves

When we set the challenge of variable heel from 8 to 4 inches, we had only one thing clear; if we achieved the challenge, the quality of materials should also be up to it.

Our shoes exude warmth and quality in every detail.
Using high quality leather;

Made in Spain 100%

MOSSTO BEAUTY

The city, the new Jungle.

The need to survive is what causes species to adapt to rugged environments. And this is tested every day in the shoes of a woman.

The city has become the new scenario where the woman introduces herself to the world, a sophisticated and elegant woman that can overcome the obstacles that get in your way.

Our collection highlights a strong personality, without forgetting the comfort and quality in design.

MOSSTOPLAY

Take out claws, it's up to you.

Every day is different and your shoes should not be left behind.

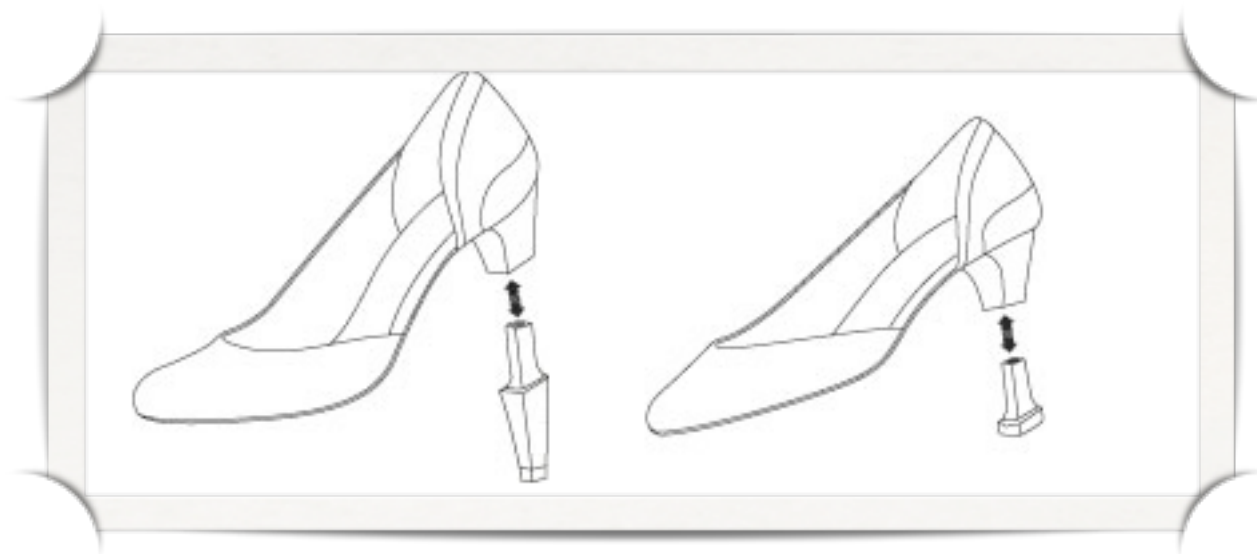

MOSSTO mossto not only adapts to the height that you demenad, but also to your mood and even your daily bag!

MOSSTOUP2U

MOSSTOCONTACT

MOSSTO

www.mossto.com

media@mossto.com